DR. JOSHUA OPPENHEIM

Short Biography

Dr. Joshua Oppenheim is a conductor, educator, and podcast host. From 2008 to 2026 he served as Professor of Music and Director of Choral Studies at Kansas State University, where his choirs performed by invitation at the ACDA National Conference, the NCCO National Conference, and the NAfME National Conference.

He is President of the American Choral Directors Association's Southwestern Region (2026-2028) and previously served on the national board of the National Collegiate Choral Organization. Oppenheim is founder and artistic director of Re:Sound Ensembles, a Kansas City-based choral organization, and in 2026 served as Guest Chorus Master of the Kansas City Symphony Chorus.

As a guest conductor, lecturer, and adjudicator, he has worked in Thailand, South Korea, Ireland, the United Arab Emirates, and Singapore, and has led ensemble tours across the United Kingdom, France, Italy, Austria, the Czech Republic, Finland, Latvia, and Estonia. He has conducted the National Festival Chorus at Carnegie Hall and Washington National Cathedral. He holds the D.M.A. in Choral Conducting from the University of North Texas and is the host of the podcast What's Your Story with Joshua Oppenheim.

Contact: info@joshua-oppenheim.com · joshua-oppenheim.com
Press: joshua@resoundensembles.org